Clarke County Bonds. In regard to the bonds of the County of Clarke, Va., given in payment of the subscription of the county to the Alexandria, Loudoup and Hampshire Railroad Company, the County Court of that county, at its February term, (all the Justices being present,) refused the motion to disapprove the action of the agents of the County in issuing the bonds to the Company in payment of the subscription: but, on motion of the Company's counsel, adopted the following order: Whereas doubts have been expressed as to the validity of the order of this Court, made at the June term, 1858, appointing T. B. Pendleton, Nathaniel Burwell, Francis Mc-Cormick, Benjamin Morgan, and Samuel J. C. Moore, agents to negotiate a loan, or loans, for, and in the name of, Clarke County, for the sum of $100,000, for the purpose of paying the quotas on said stock as they might be called for by the Alexandria, Loudoun, and Hampshire Railroad Company, and as to the action of said agents as reported by them to the September Court, 1858; and such doubts may operate to discredit the said bonds and to injure the said Railroad Company, and consequently the County of Clarke, one of the stockholders therein; now, in order to remove said doubts, and to prevent the depreciation of said bonds. the Court doth hereby adopt, ratify, and approve the said order of June Court, 1858, and the action and report of said agents."

The case was fully and ably argued on the one side by Mr. Hunter, and on the other by Messrs, Byrd, Williams, and Funsten.

Politics in College.

We are uncompromisingly opposed to the introduction of political movements in the halls of Colleges or any of our Seminaries of learning under any circumstances, because these are no places for such movements, which are calculated to do vast and irremediable mischief instead of good .-The classic and peaceful shades in which the young mind is tutored in the ways of virtue and wisdom-in which science and philosophy enrich the intellect with their recious lessons, and prepare the student for a life of usefulness and honor-should never be invaded by the rude and disturbing scenes of party controversy. If our seats of learning are to be coverted into so many arenas of political strife-if our young men who go there for the sole purpose of being instructed in the different branches of literature, are to be arrayed in opposing political clubs-how long will it be before our alma maters will become nurseries of disputations, destructive alike of the tranquiliand ends of academical life? It is in that sweet, bright season of youth, when amidst the most delightful associations, we are quietly accumulating the treasures of knowledge within precincts wholly consecrated to that purpose, that we form friendships and confidences which are amongst the most cherished remembrances of our after days, and which all the busy scenes and cares of manhood grappling with this rough world, cannot obliterate. We wish never to see College exercises interrupted, and College unions marred by political organizations-and we sincerely hope that such indiscretions will be studiously avoided by every literary institution in our land. Po litical warfare conducted as it now is in its legitimate arena, is a source of sufficient evil to the country. Let not its bitter waters find their way to the calm retreats of the student and disturb the hours of his disengagement from this business of the Lecture room.—Petersburg Intelligencer.

Escape from Drowning-Utility of Hoops. We were informed by a citizen of our District, on Monday last, of a most remarkable escape from drowning of Mr. Robert Anderson, wife, two children and sister. The ciryour attacks upon the Baptist denomination. cumstances, as related to us, are as follows:-

"Mr. Robert Anderson, a citizen of our District, his wife, two children and sister, left home on Saturday last for the purpose of visiting the father of Mr. A., Capt. George Anderson, of Laurens District, and while crossing Saluda, immediately above Capt. Anderson's mill, one of the horses attached to the carriage was suddenly attacked with "Blind Staggers," and fell overboard, nearly upsetting the carriage. Disraeli's Peace Speech.

From the London Times' Report, February The Chancellor of the Exchequer .- Sir, 1 am not surprised that the noble lord, occupying the position in this House of leader of the Opposition, should have availed himself of this legitimate occasion, in the present critical state of affairs, to make the inquiries which he has addressed to the Ministers of the Crown. I feel it quite unnecessary to assure the noble lord that we acquit him upon this occasion of even the possibility being influenced by any feeling in the ourse which he has pursued. (Cheers.) I hope, sir, I may appeal with confidence to conduct of gentlemen who sit on this side of the House at a moment of great difficulty -I mean before the late war occurred—as a proof that it is possible to conduct an Opposition in this country without a want of patriotism, even in the most critical times. Sir, the state of affairs, no doubt, fully justifies the noble lord in the inquiries which he has addressed to us. It is notorious that military preparations are taking place in various arts of Europe. It is notorious that the reources are being marshaled of two at least of the great military Powers of the continent, and indeed, I cannot contemplate a juncture which would render it more justifiable on the part of an individua! occupying the position of the noble lord, anddress an inquiry to Ministers of the Crown, or one which would render the House of Commons more sensible that we have a duty to fulfil, however anxious we may be to exercise all that reserve which the circumstances may appear to require. (Hear, hear.) Sir, I entirely agree with the view which the noble lord has taken of the position of the great powers interested in the settlement in 1815. think the noble lord has shown in a lucid and satisfactory manner that it cannot be the interest of any of those powers to disturb hat settlement. (Hear, hear.) It is my beief that it is not the wish of any of them to do so, (Cheers.) But I agree with the noble lord that there are circumstances in existence, that there is an anomalous state of affairs brought about in Italy, which might ead to very disastrous consequences, and might even occasion war although the object contemplated at the commencement of hostilities might not be a desire to challenge or to mpugn the settlement of 1815. (Hear.) Sir. the noble lord has given us a lively picture of the military preparations that are taking lace on the Continent. Allow me to assure the noble lord that when all have been so stirring and so active, Her Majesty's Ministers have not been altogether idle. (Cheers-)-We have endeavered, to the best of our ability, and with the utmost vigilance, to take at course which we believed, in the present difficult position of affairs, was conducive to the maintenance of the general peace. Cheers.) We have appreciated the importance of what the noble lord has righty des cribed as the favorable position which might se occupied by this county between the two powers to which he referred. We possess, and I hope we shall long possess, an inti-dial understanding with Austria. We are, therefore, in a position in which we can offer advice and counsel of which the motives cannot be mistaken. We have given, and we have received, proofs of friendship from both of these Powers, and we have no other interest in their good unlerstanding in the present instance than that which all States must have in the maintenance of peace. (Cheers.) Sir, the noble lord wishes to know whether it is in our power to make any communication to the House as to the present state of affairs. The noble ord has very liberally and generously admitted that it is not in our power to make any communication-if we state that it would beinconvenient and injurious to the public interests to make any communicaso, but he will give us credit for doing our duty toour sovereign and our country, and Aosphate of line, it is found to containtake the most sanguine view of the future which are unstances may render possible .-(Herr, hear.) Doesn't Know His Duties.

A complaint has been lodged at the State Department against the British Consul at Galveston, which involves a charge of gross official misconduct against him. Its substance may be stated as follows: Late in the month of November last the American ship Thos. Wattson, of New York, cleared at Galveston, Texas, with a cargo of cotton for Liverpool. The master of the Wattson applied to Mr. Arthur T. Lynn, H. B. M. Consul at Galveston, to certify to a clean bill of health given by the Collector of the port, which the Consul refused. Certificates were then procured from the health officer of the port and the principal physicians of Galveston, stating hat no case of yellow fever had occurred since the 1st of November last, and that the city and port were entirely free from all other contagious diseases. Still the British Consul refused to sign a clean bill of health, and the ship was detained outside the harbor, off the bar, for twenty-five days, until driven on shore in a norther, she narrowly escaped total wreek, and was obliged for safety to put to sea without a bill of health.

It alleges that the British Consul was actuated by a feeling of petty malice and revenge, in consequence of the attachment of the British schooner Commerce, by the owners of the Wattson for damages done in the port during a nortier by the former vessel, chich was consigned to the British Consul

This act of oppression was in violation of he laws of connercial usage, and a great disparagement to the commerce of the United States. Besiles, at the time of the refu sal of this Britisl Consul to certify to a clean bill of health, allthe other Foreign Consuls were giving clear bills of health, not only at Galveston, but aso at New Orleans.

The owner of te Wattson has preferred a laim against the British Government for $10,-000 damages. Ithese facts be true, and we understand they are duly authenticated, the British officia should be instantly disrecall his exequar if an investigation proves the truth of thesallegations .- Wash, Star.

---From Washington.

The Star has reason to believe that Hon. George W. Jones, late Senator from Iowa. has written a letter declining the mission to Bogata.

The Cabinet were yesterday engaged in lisenssing the subject of an extra-session of Congress and the time when it shall be convened. [It was currently reported that the Cabinet had determined to call an extra session about the middle of July.]

The Secretary of the Treasury has notified the successful bidders for the late five per cent, loan, that they need make no further deposits for stock, until called for, the Government not requiring the money at the present time. It is thought no demand will be made before midsummer.

RHODES' SUPER PHOSPHATE. B. M. RHODES & CO. Packed in Barrels and Bags.

Price 845 per Ton cash, in Baltimore.

THE attention of Planters of Virginia, is called to this valuable manure, which has been thoroughly tested for the past six years on every description of crep.

This preparation supplies valuable soluble phos phoric acid, the indispensable nutriment of plants. RHODES' Super Phosphate of Line is a chemical compound, entirely different from the character of the raw materials which are used in preparation It possesses virtues specifically its own, not bor rowed from other natural products, nor imitable able assistant in modern agriculture.

The Model Farm, at Petersburg, (Virginia,) has, through all its various administrations, (first the lamented Nicol, next Mr. Turnbull, and now the present superintendent, Mr. Harris,) endorsed this manure as one of great value, and especially adap-
